CASE NO. 8:11-cv-00485-AG (AJW)

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES FILED BY ORLY
TAITZ IN REPLY TO PLAINTIFFS'
OPPOSITION TO MOTION TO DISMISS BASED UPON ANTI-SLAPP

Date: June 13, 2011
Time: 10:00 a.m.
Dept.: Crtrm 10D

[Request for Judicial Notice; Declaration of Orly Taitz; and Evidentiary Objections to the Declarations of Lisa Liberi and Philip J. Berg Filed Concurrently
Herewith]

Complaint Filed: May 4, 2009

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

DEFENDANTS' RULE 12 MOTIONS HAVE NOT YET BEEN ADJUDICATED ON THE MERITS

4 Plaintiffs argue that, because Defendants' Anti-SLAPP motion had already been 5 denied without prejudice by the Pennsylvania District Court, the current motion should be 6 denied. Plaintiffs' argument is based upon their naked allegation that certain entries in the 7 court's docket indicate that the previously filed motions, and the subsequent filings 8 amending the original motion, were adjudicated on the merits. Plaintiffs' argument is 9 misguided and is not supported by the Pennsylvania District Court and the 3rd District 10 Court of Appeals' prior order and judgment.

11 At the outset, it bears emphasis that a defendant may amend its Rule 12(b) motion 12 at any time before the motion is decided to include additional 12(b) defenses. As long as 13 the original motion is timely and adequate notice is given to the opposing party, grounds 14 added by amendment are not waived. (Bechtel v. Liberty Nat'l Bank (9th Cir. 1976) 534 15 F.2d 1335, 1341, fn. 8) Plaintiffs' overbroad and general observation about the number of 16 Rule 12(b) filings in and of itself, therefore, is not dispositive of the instant motion.

17 In order for Plaintiffs' argument to apply, barring a ruling on the instant motion, 18 Plaintiffs must show an adjudication of the prior motion or motions on the merits.
19 Plaintiffs have presented no competent evidence to support such a contention. Defendant 20 Taitz submits, in fact, that there was no prior adjudication of the Rule 12 bases on which 21 the current motion to dismiss is based. The Pennsylvania District Court ordered this part 22 of the case transferred to the Central District of California on personal jurisdiction grounds 23 and did not adjudicate the issues of subject matter jurisdiction or Anti-SLAPP. (Request 24 for Judicial Notice No. 1) Taitz appealed the District Court's refusal to address the other 25 grounds in her Rule 12(b) motion. Taitz' appeal was dismissed for lack of appellate court 26 jurisdiction however and, in the judgment of dismissal, the Third District Court of Appeal 27 specifically held that "all unresolved motions shall be decided by the transferee courts 28 because we lack jurisdiction to determine the merits." (Request for Judicial Notice No. 2)

1 Because the Pennsylvania District Court did not adjudicate the issues asserted in 2 Taitz' current Rule 12(b) motion, and because the Third District Court of Appeal upheld 3 that refusal while specifically reserving the adjudication of "all unresolved motions" to the 4 transferee courts, this Court has authority to hear and determine the issues presented by 5 Taitz' motion.

6 2. TAITZ HAS SATISFIED HER BURDEN OF ESTABLISHING THAT THE 7 CONDUCT COMPLAINED OF IS "PROTECTED ACTIVITY"

8 California Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16 "posits... a two step process for 9 determining whether an action is a SLAPP. First, the court decides whether the defendant 10 has made a threshold showing that the challenged cause of action is one arising from 11 protected activity. A defendant meets this burden by demonstrating that the act underlying 12 the plaintiff's cause fits one of the categories spelled out in section 425.16(e). If the court 13 finds that such a showing has been made, it must determine whether the plaintiff has 14 demonstrated a probability of prevailing on the claim." (Navellier v. Sletten (2002) 29 15 Cal.4th 82, 88-89, 124 Cal.Rptr. 530)(Citations omitted) Thus, an anti-SLAPP motion lies 16 to strike lawsuits that seek to penalize earlier litigation or to inhibit future litigation. (Id. at 17 89; Chavez v. Mendoza (2001) 94 Cal.App.4th 1083, 1087, 114 Cal.Rptr.2d 825)

18 Thus, the first step in analyzing whether the court should strike a SLAPP complaint, 19 the court must make a determination that the actions arise out of defendant's exercise of 20 his or her right to free speech. It is defendant's burden to establish that the subject upon 21 which the action is based arose out of actions undertaken in furtherance of defendant's 22 right of petition or free speech in connection with a public issue. (M.G. v. Time Warner, 23 Inc. (2001) 89 Cal.App.4th 623, 629, 107 Cal.Rptr.2d 504)

24 According to California Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16, subd. (e): "an act 25 in furtherance of a person's right of petition or free speech ... in connection with a public 26 issue" includes: (1) any written or oral statement or writing made before a legislative, 27 executive, or judicial proceeding, or any other official proceeding authorized by law; (2) 28 any written or oral statement or writing made in connection with an issue under

1 consideration or review by a legislative, executive, or judicial body, or any other official 2 proceeding authorized by law; or (3) any written or oral statement or writing made in a 3 place open to the public or a public forum in connection with an issue of public interest; 4 (4) or any other conduct in furtherance of the exercise of the constitutional right of petition 5 or the constitutional right of free speech in connection with a public issue or an issue of 6 public interest.” If the targeted speech falls under the first two categories (#s 1&2) then 7 there is no need, on the part of the moving party, to show that the matter is of public 8 interest. If, however, the targeted speech falls under the latter two categories (#s 3&4) 9 then there is a need for such a showing. (Briggs v. Eden Council for Hope & Opportunity
10 (1999) 19 Cal.4th 1106, 1113, 81 Cal.Rptr.2d 471)

11 a. The Categories of Misconduct Complained of Against Taitz

12 Plaintiffs’ complaint, albeit confusing, reveals the following claims against Taitz
13 and Defend Our Freedoms Foundation, Inc. (“DOFF”):

- 14 1. Alleged violation of some claim of copyright by Berg and Lisa Liberi against 15 Taitz. (Complaint ¶¶25, 61)
- 16 2. Allegations relating to Taitz having written to the Supreme Court seeking 17 help with an FBI investigation concerning hacking her website. It bears 18 emphasis that the complaint is silent as to whether Taitz ever attributed this 19 particular conduct to any of the Plaintiffs. (Complaint ¶37)
- 20 3. Allegations relating to Taitz having stated that her websites and PayPal 21 accounts were “hacked” and “sabotaged”. Again, it bears emphasis that the 22 complaint is silent as to whether Taitz ever attributed this particular conduct 23 to any of the Plaintiffs. (Complaint ¶¶39, 48-49)
- 24 4. Alleged defamation relating to Taitz’ contention on a blogcast that Ostella 25 threatened her. (Complaint ¶43) In reading the complaint as a whole, the 26 threat referred to in that paragraph was likely the threat that Plaintiffs admit 27 to in paragraph 38 of their complaint.
- 28 5. Alleged defamation arising out of a “cease and desist” letter and reports

1 made to the FBI. (Complaint ¶45, 62)

2 6. Alleged defamation arising out of an e-mail to the Chicago FBI. (Complaint 3 ¶53)

4 7. Alleged defamation arising out of an e-mail to Berg, forwarded to Ed Hale, 5 wherein Taitz claimed that Liberi had a criminal record and thus had an 6 obligation to send the information to the FBI. Taitz also demanded that he 7 join her in filing litigation against her and a demand for investigation from 8 the authorities. (Complaint ¶¶56-57)

9 8. Alleged defamation of Liberi that she had an extensive criminal record and, 10 despite such, was still working for Berg. (Complaint ¶67)

11 9. Alleged defamation of Liberi in documents which were sent to the Attorney 12 General, Director of the FBI, the FBI cyber crime division, among other 13 executive and law enforcement agencies. (Complaint ¶67)

14 10. Alleged defamation arising out of a posting that indicated that donations 15 made on the defendourfreedoms website were not making their way to 16 DOFF, but rather were being paid to Ostella, who was at that time no longer 17 affiliated with DOFF but was using the domain names she registered on 18 behalf of Taitz/DOFF without permission. (Complaint Alleged defamation 19 arising out of a posting that indicated that donations made on the 20 defendourfreedoms website were not making their way to DOFF, but rather 21 were being paid to Ostella, who was at that time no longer affiliated with 22 DOFF but was using the domain names she registered on behalf of 23 Taitz/DOFF without permission. (Complaint ¶70)

b. Each of the Acts Complained of In Numbers 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9 Are in Connection With a Public Issue Because They Relate to Written and Oral Statements Made Before Administrative/Judicial Proceedings Before Executive and Judicial Bodies and/or Are Pre-Litigation Statements

6 The acts described in numbers 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9 are clearly protected activities that 7 relate to matters of public concern because they are written or oral statements made before 8 executive (Attorney General, FBI, police law, enforcement) and judicial (Supreme Court) 9 bodies. With respect to the conduct described in categories 2, 5, 6, 7, and 9, Taitz need not 10 even show that they were made in connection with a public issue to show that they are 11 protected. The anti-SLAPP statute protects all petition-related activity before a 12 governmental body whether or not the statements involve a public issue: "(A)ll that 13 matters is that the First Amendment activity take place in an official proceeding or be 14 made in connection with an issue being reviewed by an official proceeding." (Briggs v.
15 Eden Council for Hope & Opportunity (1999) 19 Cal.4th 1106, 1116, 81 Cal.Rptr.2d 471, 16 477 (disapproving earlier cases contra)) Reporting another person's unlawful conduct to 17 the police, with the intention of prompting his or her arrest (as distinguished from making 18 a citizen's arrest), may constitute a protected "petition" to an official body. [See Wang v.
19 Hartunian (2003) 111 Cal.App.4th 744, 749, 3 Cal.Rptr.3d 909, 912; Chabak v. Monroy
20 (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 1502, 1512, 65 Cal.Rptr.3d 641, 647–648—child abuse victim's 21 report to police, and repeating it to her parents at the urging of the investigating officer, 22 were protected activities (petitioning government) under CCP § 425.16)

23 The conduct described in category 10 is be protected litigation related activity since 24 it concerns pre-litigation statements or writings concerning the ownership of the domain
25 names registered by Ostella on behalf of Taitz/DOFF. Lawsuits based on prelitigation 26 statements or writings may be subject to an anti-SLAPP motion. (Neville v. Chudacoff 27 (2008) 160 Cal.App.4th at 1266, 73 Cal.Rptr.3d at 391, fn. 8; CKE Restaurants, Inc. v.
28 Moore (2008) 159 Cal.App.4th 262, 271, 70 Cal.Rptr.3d 921, 928) Communications made

1 in connection with litigation contemplated in good faith are considered “under 2 consideration ... by a judicial body” within the meaning of California Code of Civil 3 Procedure section 425.16(e)(2). (Neville v. Chudacoff (2008) 160 Cal.App.4th 1255, 1262–
4 1263, 73 CR3d 383, 388–389—anti-SLAPP motion properly granted in defamation action 5 based on Defendant warning its customers not to do business with Plaintiff to avoid 6 involvement in impending litigation over misappropriation of Defendant's customer lists) 7 As is set forth in Taitz' declaration, she fully intended and intends to file suit against 8 Ostella for having breached her fiduciary duty and committed fraud in relation to the 9 domain names she registered on behalf of Taitz/DOFF and may file suit against Berg and 10 Liberi, depending on their knowledge of Ostella's use of the www.defendourfreedoms.net 11 domain name to <http://obamacrimes.com>, for conspiracy to perpetrate the fraud/breach of 12 fiduciary duty.

13 c. Each of the Remaining Acts Complained of Are in Connection With a 14 Public Issue Because They Relate to Political/Fundraising Activity

15 Statements, writings or conduct not made or occurring in an official proceeding (or 16 in connection with an issue under consideration in such a proceeding) are protected only if 17 made in a public place and “in connection with an issue of public interest” (Cal. Civ. Proc.
18 § 425.16(e)(3)). Other conduct in furtherance of the right of free speech is protected only if 19 made “in connection with a public issue or an issue of public interest” (Cal. Civ. Proc. § 20 425.16(e)(4) (emphasis added)).

21 “Public interest” within the meaning of the anti-SLAPP statute includes “not only 22 governmental matters, but also private conduct that impacts a broad segment of society 23 and/or that affects a community in a manner similar to that of a governmental entity.”

24 (Damon v. Ocean Hills Journalism Club (2000) 85 Cal.App.4th 468, 479, 102 Cal.Rptr.2d
25 205, 212; Kurwa v. Harrington, Foxx, Dubrow & Canter, LLP (2007) 146 Cal.App.4th 26 841, 53 Cal.Rptr.3d 256, 260) Even conduct that reaches a limited, but definable 27 portion of the public (e.g. a private group, organization or community) may be 28 constitutionally-protected activity where it is done “in the context of an ongoing

1 controversy, dispute or discussion ... (thus embodying) the public policy of encouraging 2 participation in matters of public significance." (Du Charme v. International Broth. of 3 Elec. Workers, Local 45 (2003) 110 Cal.App.4th 107, 119, 1 Cal.Rptr.3d 501 (parentheses
4 added); see D.C. v. R.R. (2010) 182 CalApp.4th 1190, 106 Cal.Rptr.3d 399)

5 For instance, in Sipple v. Foundation for Nat'l Progress (1999) 71 Cal.App.4th 226, 6 236–240, 83 Cal.Rptr.2d 677, a political consultant sued for defamation based on a 7 magazine article accusing him of domestic violence. The Court of Appeal held that the 8 issue was of "public interest" because the political consultant was a public figure and had 9 made the prevention of domestic violence a cornerstone in his advertising campaigns for 10 politicians known around the world. The holding of Sipple should apply here.

11 Taitz individually and through her foundation, Defend Our Freedoms Foundation, is 12 a political crusader. Of particular relevance to the instant action was Taitz's crusade to 13 uncover the truth regarding the birthplace of President Barack Obama. (Declaration of 14 Orly Taitz in Support of Her Reply to Opposition to Motion to Dismiss, "Taitz Decl.", ¶2) 15 Taitz and Berg crusade for the same cause. (Taitz Decl. ¶3) At one point they 16 simultaneously maintained two similar websites dedicated to their cause. Taitz maintained 17 her blog on www.defendourfreedoms.us and Berg maintained a website at the web address 18 <http://obamacrimes.com>. (Taitz Decl. ¶3) Both Taitz and Berg solicited donations to their 19 respective causes through their blog and web site, respectively. (Taitz Decl. ¶4, Exhibit 20 "3") Both Taitz and Berg were accusing Obama of having committed fraud and forged 21 documents regarding Obama's birthplace. (Taitz Decl. ¶¶2-5)

22 Ostella, who approached Taitz and offered to host a website or blog to support her 23 cause, became a volunteer webmaster on behalf of Taitz/DOFF and eventually registered 24 the domain name that was used to identify Taitz' blog, www.defendourfreedoms.us. (Taitz 25 Decl. ¶¶6-7) In addition to that domain name, however, Ostella registered additional 26 domain names bearing the defendourfreedoms trade name. The other domain names, 27 however, were never used by Taitz/DOFF. (Taitz Decl. ¶8) Ostella refused to transfer to 28 Taitz full control of, or the "keys" to, the domain names. (Taitz Decl. ¶8)

1 Subsequent to a falling out between Ostella and Taitz concerning Ostella's failure to 2 account for unauthorized commercial activity on the blog, Ostella's failure to account for 3 unauthorized solicitations for donations to a petition company, and concerning Ostella's 4 demand for Taitz's withdrawal of a complaint Taitz made to the FBI about suspicious
5 activity in relation to her blog (Taitz Decl. ¶¶9-10), Ostella asked that Taitz move her blog 6 off of Ostella's servers. (Taitz Decl. ¶11) Ostella however refused, and continues to 7 refuse, to turn over the access codes, passwords or "keys" to the domain names that she 8 registered on behalf of Taitz/DOFF. (Taitz Decl. ¶12)

9 Subsequent to Taitz moving her blog off of the www.defendourfreedoms.us domain
10 name, Ostella began to use the confusingly similar www.defendourfreedoms.net domain
11 name. (Taitz Decl. ¶14; Opposition p. 20, lines 22-27) Despite the fact that the domain 12 name bore the trade name of DOFF, it was dedicated to promoting Berg's website at 13 http://obamacrimes.com and the PayPal button on that site allowed visitors to donate to 14 Ostella's PayPal account. (Taitz Decl. ¶15, Exhibit "4"; Opposition P. 20, lines 22-27) 15 Because Taitz sought to warn political donors who might mistakenly donate to Berg and/or 16 the operator of www.defendourfreedoms.net, Ostella, thinking they were donating to Taitz' 17 foundation and cause, Taitz sent out the allegedly defamatory material complained of in 18 the complaint.

19 In light of the foregoing facts, each of the remaining oral and written statements
20 complained of were protected speech in connection with a public issue. Berg and Taitz 21 further similar political causes, seek support from the same portion of the public (anti-22 Obama), and because of Plaintiffs' unlawful use of DOFF's trade name on the 23 www.defendourfreedoms.net in order to promote Berg and solicit donations, all of the 24 remaining conduct complained of were made in connection with an issue of public interest 25 – the identity and character of the people to whom potential donors were donating thinking 26 that they were donating to Taitz as opposed to Berg or Ostella.

1 3. PLAINTIFFS HAVE PRESENTED NO COMPETENT EVIDENCE 2 DEMONSTRATING THEIR PROBABILITY OF PREVAILING ON THE 3 CLAIMS PRESENTED

4 Because the conduct complained of in the complaint are acts protected by California 5 Code of Civil Procedure section 425.16, Plaintiff must present evidence demonstrating her 6 probability of prevailing on the claim. (Cal. Civ. Proc. §425.16(b)(1)) Thus, the second 7 step in analyzing whether the court should strike a SLAPP complaint, provided that 8 defendants have established that the action arises out of conduct undertaken in furtherance 9 of protected speech, requires Plaintiffs to then present evidence demonstrating their 10 probability of prevailing on the claims presented. In order to establish a probability of 11 prevailing on their claims, Plaintiffs must show that there is admissible evidence that, if 12 credited, would be sufficient to sustain a favorable judgment. (McGarry v. University of 13 San Diego (2007) 154 Cal.App.4th 97, 108) The “probability of prevailing” is tested by 14 the same standard governing a motion for summary judgment, nonsuit, or directed verdict.
15 In opposing a SLAPP motion, it is Plaintiffs’ burden to make a prima facie showing of 16 facts that would support a judgment in their favor. (Taus v. Loftus (2007) 40 Cal.4th 683, 17 714, a “summary-judgment-like procedure”; Bergman v. Drum (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 11, 18 18) As set forth below, Plaintiffs have offered no admissible evidence in support of their 19 claims and therefore have not established any probability of prevailing on them.

20 Based upon these 10 general categories of alleged misconduct listed above, 21 Plaintiffs have alleged causes of action for: (1) disclosure of private information; (2) 22 defamation per se; (3) false light; (4) harassment; (5) false designation and descriptions of 23 facts; and (6) injunction. In order to establish a probability of prevailing on these claims 24 Plaintiffs must have made a prima facie showing, based upon competent admissible 25 evidence, that a fact finder can rely upon to sustain a judgment in their favor. As is set 26 forth below, Plaintiffs have made an insufficient prima facie showing and thus the instant 27 Anti-SLAPP motion should be granted.

28 ///

1 a. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on 2 Competent, Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for Disclosure of 3 Private Information

4 Plaintiffs' complaint alleges that Taitz and DOFF are liable for disclosing private 5 facts relating to Liberi. A cause of action for public disclosure of private facts is 6 composed of the following elements: (1) public disclosure; (2) of a private fact; (3) that is 7 highly offensive to a reasonable person; and (4) is not newsworthy. (Cornerstone v. Davies
8 (1952) 38 Cal.2d 315, 322, 239 P.2d 876; Shulman v. Group W Productions, Inc. (1998)
9 18 Cal.4th 200, 214, 74 Cal.Rptr.2d 843)

10 At the outset, Plaintiffs have presented no competent, admissible evidence to 11 support their contention that Taitz made a public disclosure concerning them. Liberi has 12 only generally averred that that Taitz "put [her] home address out all over the internet" 13 (Liberi Decl. ¶3); that Taitz "harassed every governmental agency in New Mexico" (Liberi 14 Decl. ¶5); and that Taitz "published and continued publishing" information about her 15 (Liberi Decl. ¶8). None of those conclusions are admissible evidence that a fact finder can 16 rely upon to support a judgment in Liberi's favor.

17 The "private facts" were identified as Liberi's social security number, home 18 address, mother's maiden name, date of birth, and description. Private facts are intimate 19 details of one's private life that are outside the realm of public interest. In analyzing each 20 of the "private facts" identified:

- 21 • Plaintiffs' claim of privacy regarding Liberi's home address is without merit.
22 Plaintiffs listed home addresses for Ostella, Taitz, and others.
- 23 • Plaintiffs' claim of privacy regarding Liberi's social security number is 24 without merit. Liberi's social security number is a matter of public record 25 based upon her prior bankruptcy filing in the Central District of California 26 U.S. Bankruptcy Court. (Request for Judicial Notice No. 3)
- 27 • Plaintiffs' have presented no evidence or argument to support that Liberi's 28 date of birth, description, or mother's maiden name are in any way private.

1 No liability lies where the defendant further publishes information about the 2 plaintiff that is already public or when further publication is related to matters that the 3 plaintiff leaves open to the public. (Sipple v. Chronicle Publ'g Co. (1984) 154 Cal.App.3d 4 1040, 1047, 201 Cal.Rptr. 665)

5 The third element of a cause of action for invasion of privacy is that it must be 6 highly offensive to a reasonable person. In determining offensiveness, courts consider the 7 degree of intrusion, the context, the conduct, and circumstances surrounding the intrusion, 8 the intruder's motives and objectives, the setting into which he or she intrudes, and the 9 expectation whose privacy is invaded. (Forsher v. Bugliosi (1980) 26 Cal.3d 792, 808-809, 10 163 Cal.Rptr. 628; Hill v. NCAA (1994) 7 Cal.4th 1, 26, 26 Cal.Rptr.2d 834) Plaintiffs 11 have offered no admissible evidence to support this element of their cause of action.

12 b. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on 13 Competent, Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for Defamation Per 14 Se

15 A cause of action for defamation per se (libel) is composed of the following 16 elements: (1) a publication; (2) that is false; (3) unprivileged; (4) of and concerning 17 Plaintiff; and (5) exposes any person to hatred, contempt, ridicule, disgrace, or which has a 18 tendency to injure a person in his or her occupation. (Cal. Civ. Code §45)

19 In order to qualify as a publication, the act must be in writing, printing, picture, 20 effigy, or other fixed presentation. (Cal. Civ. Code §45) The only evidence proffered by 21 Plaintiffs suggesting a publication was offered by Liberi in her declaration at paragraph 10
22 wherein she testifies that Taitz went on a radio show to talk about Liberi. Liberi also avers 23 to written communications about her in Taitz' pleadings, but those are privileged in 24 accordance with the litigation privilege.

25 Nevertheless, Plaintiffs have offered no evidence to support the falsity of the facts 26 allegedly communicated by Taitz, nor have Plaintiffs offered any facts to support that it 27 subjects them to hatred, contempt, ridicule, disgrace, or injury to their occupation.

28 What is more, even assuming that Liberi had presented admissible evidence of 1 Taitz' publication of facts regarding her criminal past – that she had been convicted of 2 forgery or document forgery, Taitz submits that Liberi would be unable to prove falsity

3 because they are simply true. Attached as an exhibit to Taitz's declaration filed in support 4 of the instant motion is Liberi's criminal record. On that record is a listing of charges and 5 the disposition of those charges.

6 Among the convictions listed was a violation of California Penal Code section 7 115(a). California Penal Code section 115(a) provides: "Every person who knowingly 8 procures or offers any false or forged instrument to be filed, registered, or recorded in any 9 public office within this state, which instrument, if genuine, might be filed, registered, or 10 recorded under any law of this state or of the United States, is guilty of a felony."
11 (Emphasis added) Liberi was also convicted of violating California Penal Code section 12 472 which provides: "Every person who, with intent to defraud another, forges, or 13 counterfeits the seal of this State, the seal of any public officer authorized by law, the seal 14 of any Court of record, or the seal of any corporation, or any other public seal authorized 15 or recognized by the laws of this State, or of any other State, Government, or country, or 16 who falsely makes, forges, or counterfeits any impression purporting to be an impression 17 of any such seal, or who has in his possession any such counterfeited seal or impression 18 thereof, knowing it to be counterfeited, and willfully conceals the same, is guilty of 19 forgery." (Emphasis added)

20 c. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on 21 Competent, Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for False Light - 22 Invasion of Privacy

23 A cause of action for an invasion of privacy exists by publicity that places the 24 plaintiff in a false light in the public eye. (Fellows v. National Enquirer, Inc. (1986) 42 25 Cal.3d 234, 238, 228 Cal.Rptr. 215) A false light cause of action is, in substance, 26 equivalent to a libel claim and must meet the same requirements of a libel claim. (Aisenson 27 v. American Broad. Co. (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 146, 161, 269 Cal.Rptr. 379) In order to 28 sustain a libel claim, Plaintiffs must prove that there was some disclosure of an unfair or

1 inaccurate description of the person or scene in question. (Fellows v. National Enquirer, Inc. (1986) 42 Cal.3d 234, 242, 228 Cal.Rptr. 215)

2 Again, Plaintiffs have made no showing regarding a defamatory publication about 3 them. Assuming, arguendo, that a publication had taken place, the only admissible
4 testimony offered by Plaintiffs is the testimony of Liberi where she complains of Taitz 5 referring to her as a document forger with a criminal record going back into the 1990s.
6 According to Taitz' convictions for violation of California Penal Code section 115(a) and 7 472, however, Taitz' statements (assuming she made them) are true.

9 d. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on 10 Competent, Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for Harassment

11 Plaintiffs' omnibus cause of action for "harassment" encompasses alleged 12 violations of 18 U.S.C. 875(d), 47 U.S.C. 223(a), and related amendments. Each of those 13 statutes are criminal statutes and Plaintiffs have failed to allege or cite to any civil law 14 equivalent. Because Plaintiffs have not presented any evidence that they are authorized to 15 prosecute criminal actions on behalf of the State of California or the United States, 16 Plaintiffs cannot succeed on this claim.

18 e. Plaintiffs Have Failed to Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on 19 Competent, Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for False
Designations and Descriptions of Facts

20 Plaintiffs' fifth cause of action appears to mirror Plaintiffs' third cause of action for 21 false light, with some charges. According to Plaintiffs' fifth cause of action, Defendants 22 made false and misleading statements which were likely to cause, and have caused, public 23 confusion regarding their associations, intents and purposes. (Complaint ¶185) Defendants 24 also allegedly made false and misleading statements about their businesses which were 25 designed to tarnish Plaintiffs' names, reputation and business. (Complaint ¶186)

26 Plaintiffs have made no showing regarding a defamatory publication about them.
27 Assuming, arguendo, that a publication had taken place, the only admissible testimony 28 offered by Plaintiffs is the testimony of Liberi where she complains of Taitz referring to 1 her as a document forger with a criminal record going back into the 1990s. According to 2 Taitz' convictions for violation of California Penal Code section 115(a) and 472, however, 3 Taitz' statements (assuming she made them) are true.

4 f. Plaintiffs Cannot Make a Prima Facie Case, Based on Competent, 5 Admissible Evidence, for Their Claim for Injunction Because That is 6 Not a "Stand-Alone" Cause of Action in California

7 "A 'cause of action' is comprised of a 'primary right' of the plaintiff, a 8 corresponding 'primary duty' of the defendant, and a wrongful act by the defendant
9 constituting a breach of that duty." (Crowley v. Katleman (1994) 8 Cal.4th 666, 681, 34 10 Cal.Rptr.2d 386) "Injunctive relief is a remedy and not, in itself, a cause of action...."
11 (Shell Oil Co. v. Richter (1942) 52 Cal.App.2d 164, 168, 125 P.2d 930)

12 4. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT TAITZ'S RULE 12(B)(6) MOTION

13 In addition to the fact that the entire complaint is improper on Anti-SLAPP grounds, 14 Plaintiffs' fifth and sixth causes of action are not cognizable legal theories. Plaintiffs' fifth 15 cause of action is exclusively based upon criminal statutes and Plaintiffs' sixth cause of 16 action is not valid under California law.

17 5. THE COURT SHOULD GRANT TAITZ' RULE 12(B)(1) MOTION

18 Plaintiffs offered no allegation in their complaint regarding Liberi's residence or 19 domicile. Plaintiffs merely alleged that Liberi's did business or was employed in the State 20 of Pennsylvania. Taitz provided the Pennsylvania court with the summary of Liberi's 21 probation, showing that she was on probation under supervision of San Bernardino 22 California probations department and based on the terms of her probation she was not 23 allowed to reside in Pennsylvania. During a motion hearing on August 7, 2009, Judge 24 Robreno ordered Liberi to file her identifying documents with court. Liberi and her 25 attorney Berg promised to file her identifying documents, showing her state citizenship at 26 the time this legal action was filed, but have failed to do so for two years. Based on those 27 defects, the court should dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction and Taitz filed her 28 motion on that basis. The only evidence offered by Plaintiffs in opposition to Taitz' Rule

1 12(b)(1) motion to dismiss for lack of diversity is the testimony of Berg at paragraph 7 of 2 his declaration, which lacks foundation, and the testimony of Liberi at paragraph 3, which 3 is vague. Even accepting the statements in those declarations as true, Plaintiffs have not 4 met their burden to establish diversity subject matter jurisdiction.

5 Diversity is determined at the time the action is filed. Thus, a change of a party's 6 citizenship after commencement of the action does not affect the court's jurisdiction.
7 Diversity jurisdiction continues even if the opposing parties are now citizens of the same 8 state. (Bank One, Texas, N.A. v. Montle (1st Cir. 1992) 964 F.2d 48, 49; Lewis v. Lewis 9 (9th Cir. 1966) 358 F.2d 495, 502—P moved to California where D resided during 10 pendency of action; see Saadeh v. Farouki (DC Cir. 1997) 107 F.3d 52, 56–57—change in 11 citizenship after action commenced did not cure defect in complete diversity existing when 12 action filed) This action should be dismissed for lack of diversity jurisdiction.

13 6. CONCLUSION

14 Based on the foregoing, the court should dismiss the complaint, in its entirety, 15 pursuant to California Code of Civil Procedure section 415.16, et seq., the Anti-SLAPP 16 statute. Plaintiffs' claims relate to matters of public concern, are protected, and Plaintiffs 17 have presented insufficient facts to establish any probability of prevailing on their claims.
18 What is more, Plaintiffs' fifth and sixth causes of action in their complaint are not valid.
19 Finally, Plaintiffs have failed to meet their burden to establish or even properly lead 20 diversity of citizenship because plaintiffs did not plead or provide competent, admissible 21 evidence of Plaintiff Liberi's state citizenship at the time this legal action was filed.
